Learning theories are the main guide for educational systems planning in the classroom and clinical training included in nursing. The teachers by knowing the general principles of these theories can use their knowledge more effectively according to various learning situations.

Learning theories application in nursing education
Differentiating learning for ZPD is very time consuming with big groups: As a teacher in social learning spaces, I can find it hard to differentiate my content so that students are all learning within their ZPD. To differentiate content 30 times is unrealistic.

Sociocultural Theory of Learning in the Classroom
Behaviorists define learning as a permanent change in behavior, where the learners have no free will and are shaped entirely by their external environment (Ludescher, 2010). In order to be successful in L1 and L2, parents or teachers need to provide positive reinforcement whenever children or students perform a desired behavior.
