If I were to design Education 3.0, I would suggest a curriculum that not only focuses on the physical dimension, as we currently do through physical education, health, and extra-curricular sporting programs, and the intellectual dimension, which we currently address through academics, but also would include a comprehensive Pre-K - 12 emotional and social skills curriculum.

Education 3.0 and the Five Human Dimensions - Funderstanding

The biggest purpose of physical education is to keep the body free from disease. The land has not been fertile. There is no nutritional value in the crops grown on the farm. The disease is increasing in humans.
